Coffee News

Coffee drinkers, especially the frequent coffee drinkers, consider availability of coffee at work to be very to extremely important. It makes them feel like their employer cares about them and wants to give them something back, making them feel appreciated and valued at work.

It reinforces their sense of stability, confirming that they are working for a successful firm...important in these times of economic uncertainty.

It provides an opportunity to get to know their co-workers, which helps build a sense of community/team within the work environment.

Importantly, employees utilize coffee to manage their mental and physical states -It provides a boost of energy throughout the day, keeping them focused and on-task.

Conversely, it also can give them a brief break from their workload and reduce their stress.

This ability to manage their moods makes them more productive at work.

Coffee Humor

"I believe humans get a lot done, not because we're smart, but because we have thumbs so we can make coffee."

"Life is just one cup of coffee after another, and don't look for anything else."

"Sleep is just a symptom of caffeine lack"

"It is by caffeine alone I set my mind in motion. It is by the beans of Java the thoughts acquire speed, the hands acquire shaking, the shaking becomes a warning. It is by caffeine alone I set my mind in motion."
